About

I am a recent BCA graduate passionate about frontend development and expanding my expertise in full-stack technologies. With a solid foundation in the MERN stack, I am actively building projects to strengthen my skills and gain hands-on experience.

I thrive on solving real-world challenges and continuously improving my ability to create seamless, user-friendly applications. While I am still growing as a full-stack developer, I am eager to contribute, learn, and take on new opportunities that push me forward.
